Scott Monument. At the eastern end of the East Princes Street Gardens stands the Scott Monument, a fine Gothic tower 200 feet high, under which is a seated figure of the Wizard of the North with his hound Maida at his feet. Both are execu'ed in grey Carrara marb'e by Sir John Steell. The cost of the monument was £15,560: the architect Mr. George Kemp, and the foundation stone was laid in 1840.
